

Video transcript: Fix problems

VOICEOVER: We open on a bulldog...

We open on a lady crossing the road with her Bulldog

We see our lady from overhead as she ties the dog to a post. She then walks toward the Commonwealth Bank.

...whose owner leaves him to go inside the Commonwealth Bank. Waiting nearby... is a poodle.

Behind the Bulldog is a Poodle. The camera swings with the Bulldog's look to reveal the Poodle.

Her owner is having the fish at the restaurant next door.

We then cut to a Man in a fish restaurant as he enjoys his fish lunch.

Not surprisingly, the Bulldog begins to speak:

Cut back to the Bulldog as he begins to speak to the Poodle.

"Hello luv. Owner's in the bank..."

Cut back to the Poodle as she reacts to the dog talking. She says

"Hello"

The Bulldog continues to talk, he's trying his best to impress this Poodle.

...she'll be in there for ages"

"Time for a chin-wag, then eh? Quite the looker, aren't I?"

Cut back to the Poodle as she again reacts at the Bulldog's behaviour.

We then see the Bulldog as he turns and drops to the grass to impress the Poodle by doing push ups.

"I'm very fit. Look 'ere. I'll give ya a hundred."

He starts... One Two three. Struggling as he goes up and down with each push up. He is running out of steam.

As the Bulldog reaches just his third push up we see the owners legs step back into frame.

The Bulldog complains.

"One-two-five-- Whaat-??? She's ba-a-a-ck....ALREADY?"

We cut to see the Poodle in Foreground as the camera pans right and down to reveal the Bulldog being lead away by his owner.

The bulldog's owner returns--because Commonwealth Bank solves problems quickly, if not right on the spot...

The camera continues to move down as the logo's fade up.

We close with the themeline, the logo, and one very unhappy bulldog.
