

Application guidelines

Your superannuation is designed to provide for you in retirement, so generally you're unable to access it until you permanently retire or meet another condition of release. However, there are some circumstances where you may be able to access your super early, and experiencing severe financial hardship is one of them.

How do I apply to access my super due to severe financial hardship?

Step 1: Locate your Centrelink Customer Reference Number (CRN) and Tax File Number (TFN)

You'll need these when completing your application form.

Step 2: Complete the application form

You're required to complete the financial hardship application from page 5.

Step 3: Provide proof of your identity

There are two ways you can provide your proof of identity:

- 1 Have your identity electronically verified using your current driver licence or passport number (more information on page 7), or
- 2 Provide certified paper copies of your proof of identify documents (more information on page 10).

Step 4: Complete the statutory declaration

This will need to be witnessed by an authorised person (more information on page 8).

Step 5: Send us your completed application (page 5 – 8)

Forms can be returned via NetBank or post. Please contact us if you require assistance logging in to NetBank.

Please return your completed application to us online or via post:

Do I qualify for early release of my super?

We can only grant you an early release of your super benefit on grounds of financial hardship in the following two circumstances:

Claim Type 1

- 1 You've been receiving an eligible Commonwealth income support payment continuously for the last 26 weeks (see page 2 for eligible payments), and
- 2 You're unable to meet reasonable and immediate family living expenses (expenses that need to be paid and which you cannot pay because of financial hardship), and
- 3 You've not received any financial hardship payments from the fund in the last 12 months.

Claim Type 2

- 1 You've reached your preservation age (see table on page 3), and
- 2 You've received an eligible Commonwealth income support payment for a total of at least 39 weeks after reaching preservation age (see page 2 for eligible payments), and
- 3 You're not gainfully employed on a full-time or part-time basis. Gainfully employed means employed or self-employed for gain or reward (in any business, trade, profession, vocation, calling, occupation or employment) for at least 10 hours each week.

Note: If you do not qualify, please refer to page 3 for information on ATO benefit releases on compassionate grounds

How much can I withdraw?

Claim Type 1

- The minimum amount that can be withdrawn from the fund is $1,000 and the maximum amount is $10,000.
- If your super balance is less than $1,000 you can withdraw your total account balance.

Note: If you're under 60 years old, your withdrawal is generally taxed between 17% and 22%.

For example, if you apply to release $10,000, and are taxed at the maximum rate of 22%, then you will receive an after-tax amount of $7,800.

Claim Type 2

There are no limits to the amount you can apply to withdraw.

If you've reached your preservation age but are under age 60, any tax applied is subject to the low-rate cap. See below 'How much will you be taxed' for more information on how your benefit may be taxed.

How much will my early withdrawal be taxed?

We may be required to deduct tax from your financial hardship benefit. The tax payable will depend on the components of the benefit being released and your age. If you're age 60 or over, no tax is payable on your financial hardship benefit. Generally, if you've reached your preservation age but are under age 60 and have not previously accessed your super, you're also not likely to pay any tax due to the low-rate cap applying to the amount. For more information please refer to the Product Disclosure Statement (PDS) available at commbank.com.au or by calling us on 13 40 74.
