Australian Shares - Market review

Australian shares continued the strong gains made in the previous quarter with the S&P/ASX 200 Accumulation Index up 4.8% in the March quarter. The index reached its highest level in almost two years.

The Australian dollar's value rose over the quarter (from US$0.72 to US$0.77) and was flat over the year. The RBA maintained the official cash rate at 1.5% in the March quarter.

Strong performance in the Healthcare and consumer staples sectors helped drive the Australian equity market higher. In commodity markets, iron ore prices retreated in March after gaining ground since October 2016.

The portfolio is passively managed and holdings closely replicate those of the benchmark. Returns of the portfolio are, therefore, expected to closely resemble those of the benchmark index before fees and taxes.
