Our premium tier service, Commonwealth Private Office (CPO), caters for clients and board-controlled entities that need a deeper level of investment advice and engagement, and have investable assets of $10 million or more. For more information on CPO, please see the Supplementary FSG for CPO.

Commonwealth Private and CPO provide advice to retail and wholesale clients as defined in the Corporations Act 2001 (Cth).

4 How we work

4.1 Providing you with end-to-end support
At Commonwealth Private, we believe that high-quality financial advice is about more than investments and insurance. Instead, it’s an end-to-end process that gives you the guidance and expertise you need at every stage of your wealth journey. We take the time to understand your specific needs and goals, so we can create tailored strategies to get you where you want to be.

Your financial adviser will explain each step of our financial advice process in detail, so you know exactly what to expect. Once we understand your individual circumstances and preferences, we can then tailor the process to meet your specific needs. This enables us to take care of your personal and business financial planning needs together – all from a single point of contact.

5 How we can help you

At Commonwealth Private, our aim is to build a strong and long-lasting relationship with you. That’s why our service model is designed to provide you with strategic advice and financial solutions for every stage of your life and career.

As your financial needs and goals evolve, we’ll continually shape your financial plan to match – whether you’re looking to buy a home, build your wealth, protect your income or prepare for retirement.

5.1 Strategic, investment and insurance advice

We provide strategic and investment advice, including advice on securities, derivatives, ASX-listed products and managed funds.

We also provide tailored insurance advice, with protection strategies for all your personal and business insurance needs.

In addition, we offer a transaction without advice service, where you authorise us to transact on your investments on your behalf, but without any personal advice or annual reviews. In this case, you won’t receive a Statement of Advice – but we’ll confirm all fees and charges with you in writing before we take any action.

Our brokers, CommSec and Ausiex, may also charge a brokerage fee for your transactions. See sections 7 and 8 below for details of fees and charges for our services.

Commonwealth Private is registered with the Tax Practitioners Board as Registered Tax (Financial) Advisers. Based on the information collected from you, your financial adviser will consider the tax consequences that relate directly to the financial advice being provided. However, neither Commonwealth Private nor its financial adviser are Registered Tax Agents, so our financial advice doesn’t include an assessment of your overall tax position.

6 Limits on our advice

In some cases, the advice your financial adviser provides may be limited because:

- you’ve only given us limited personal information and/or financial information
- you’ve requested scaled advice that doesn’t cover your total financial situation
- your financial adviser can only advise you on products permitted under our licence, or
- you are not physically located in Australia to receive financial services or advice.

The advice services or product recommendations that your financial adviser can provide may be limited, based on their authority or restriction to certain products as a representative of Commonwealth Private. These limitations may include derivatives and foreign exchange. Your financial adviser cannot provide advice on general insurance.

Your financial adviser can only recommend products listed on the Commonwealth Private Approved Product List which contains both Commonwealth Bank Group products and financial products issued by external providers. A product must meet our selection criteria and approval process to be listed on our Approved Product List. Where your needs and objectives require a product not on the Approved Product List, there is a one-off approval process available to your financial adviser.

Your financial adviser can only provide financial services and/or advice when you are physically located in Australia. Any financial services or advice provided while you are located outside of Australia may be subject to foreign jurisdictions laws and regulations. This applies to both initial advice and ongoing advice and services.

When making financial recommendations, your financial adviser will consider any tax, legal and estate planning implications that relate directly to the advice provided. However, we are not specialised in these areas. If you need specialist advice, we can put you in touch with experts in any of those fields.
7 Fees that you may pay – for Commonwealth Private clients

As a Commonwealth Private client, you may be charged a range of fees or other costs for the advice you receive and the financial products acquired. These fees and other costs are paid to us and not directly to your financial adviser.

Your financial adviser will explain any fees or costs that may apply. You’ll be given details of any charges at the time we provide you with personal financial advice or execute a transaction on your behalf. Detailed information about any fees, commissions and other benefits we may receive will be included in your Statement of Advice or Record of Advice.

Where we are aware that you have used borrowed funds (either secured or unsecured) to invest through us, we will charge you a flat dollar advice fee.

You’ll find details about types of fees (which include GST) that we may charge for our services in the following sections. You can choose to pay fees directly to us or tell us to deduct the fee from a product. For CPO clients, please refer to the Supplementary Financial Services Guide issued with this FSG.

7.1 Initial advice fee

The Initial Advice fee includes all upfront costs, except for insurance premiums, as well as other costs that we may incur for providing other services. Upfront costs may include product entry fees, one-off adviser service fees, one-off plan service fees, upfront fees or a combination of these.

Our initial advice fee will be based on the scope and complexity of the advice and services we are going to provide you, and take into account your particular circumstances and any requests you may have made. We may calculate the fee using a range of methods, including but not limited to using an hourly rate.

For example, if the initial advice fee was based on an hourly rate of $990 and providing the service took us 10 hours, you would be charged $9,900.

We’ll disclose to you any fees you need to pay before we prepare advice or provide services to you. If you choose to take up our services or advice, we may ask you to pay a deposit, which is generally payable before we present you with your financial plan.

7.2 Fee for service

We may charge a Fee for Service for transacting a financial product for you, providing a service or one-off advice. These fees will generally be based on an hourly rate, and will be agreed with your financial adviser before providing the service. For example, if the hourly rate was $990 and providing the service took us three hours, you would be charged $2,970.

7.3 Ongoing service fees

We may charge additional fees when you take up our ongoing services, or invest in retail or wholesale products through us. Any Ongoing Service Fees that we charge will be detailed in your advice document and ongoing service agreement.

We generally recommend you participate in our ongoing service offer. Over time, your objectives and personal circumstances, the economy, government legislation and the global investment landscape will change. As a result, your financial planning strategy and investments need to be assessed on an ongoing basis. Fees for this service range up to 3.3% annually of your investment portfolio’s value, or an agreed flat fee. For example, if you have $1,000,000 under advice and we have agreed an annual ongoing service fee of 3.3%, then you will be charged $33,000 each year.

7.4 Investment and product related fees

You may be charged a fee for investing money using any of our services. This fee will apply to your total investment amount, and to each additional investment you make to the portfolio. These fees may include, for example, administration fees, management fees, transaction (including buy/sell spreads) and borrowing costs, and separately managed account fees. These fees range from 0-5.5% each year of your total investment amount.

Please note, the maximum product and investment related fees are subject to change. Please check the Statement of Advice and Product Disclosure Statement (PDS) at the time of your advice to confirm the product-related fees payable to the product issuer that apply to the products we have recommended to you.

For example, if you had $1,000,000 invested in a product with a 2.2% annual investment and product-related fee, the product provider would charge you $22,000 each year.
7.5 Brokerage fees

Brokerage fees apply for all transactions on securities, derivatives and listed investments that you carry out with your financial adviser. They are charged by our brokers, CommSec and Ausiex, for conducting your transactions. These fees may be up to 2% of the value of the transaction, with a minimum of $150 per trade, and are charged in addition to our investment and product-related fees and advice fees.

For example, if you were selling $100,000 of a share, you would be charged a brokerage fee of up to $2,000.

There may also be other one-off fees for administrative services, such as clearing house fees.
8 Benefits we may receive – commissions and other benefits

8.1 Commissions

We’re remunerated directly through the fees we charge you. However, where permitted by law, we may receive initial or ongoing commissions from the product and service providers, including those within the Commonwealth Bank Group. There is no additional cost to you when we receive a commission.

An initial commission is a one-off payment made when entering a financial product. We may receive ongoing commissions while you hold a particular financial product. The product provider usually pays these amounts directly to us out of their revenue. Sometimes, they may deduct our commission from the premiums you pay to the product provider.

When we provide personal advice or make a recommendation, we’ll let you know the details of our remuneration arrangements with product providers.

When we arrange life insurance through a life insurance provider, they may pay us an upfront or ongoing commission (or both).

8.2 Overview of commissions

The types of commission we may receive are explained in the next section and include GST.

<td>For example, if a stamping fee of 0.75% plus an arranger fee of 0.5% to the value of total successful applications lodged by Commonwealth Private of $1,000,000, then we would receive $12,500.</td>
</tr>

*For new policies issued from 1 January 2019 and before 1 January 2020, the maximum initial commission is 77% and the ongoing commission is 22%. For new policies issued from 1 January 2020 onwards, the maximum initial commission is 66% and ongoing commission is 22%.
8.3 Payments or commissions on referrals
You may be referred to another Commonwealth Bank Group adviser, an external adviser or other specialist if they can better meet your needs and objectives.
Commonwealth Private does not pay or receive referral fees or commissions.

8.4 Disclosure of remuneration
If we receive any remuneration, commission or other benefits for providing services to you and it’s calculable at the time we provide personal advice, we’ll tell you what the amount we receive on specific financial products will be at the time we provide the personal advice, or as soon as practicable after.
For remuneration that isn’t calculable at the time we provide you with personal advice, we’ll explain how this it is to be calculated at the time we provide the personal advice, or as soon practicable after.

9 How your financial adviser is paid
Your financial adviser is paid a salary – they don’t directly receive any commissions or fees. However, they may receive an annual bonus payment if they achieve agreed objectives around client advocacy, business outcomes, leadership, strategic execution and risk management.

Our representatives may also be eligible to:

- share in monetary and non-monetary incentives rewarded for outstanding service
- receive a free grant of Commonwealth Bank shares under the Employee Share Acquisition Plan (ESAP)
- participate in our long-term incentive program, based on the representative’s contribution to our business over time – which offers Commonwealth Bank shares that only vest at a specified time in the future once we achieve a certain share performance
- receive non-monetary benefits – for example, business lunches, tickets to sporting and cultural events, national or international study tours, corporate promotional merchandise and other non-monetary benefits from product providers.
All benefits received are subject to strict limits and are recorded in a Gifts & Entertainment register that is regularly monitored.

Ground Floor, Tower 1, 201 Sussex Street, Sydney NSW 2000
Date of Preparation: 2 December 2019
In the FSG, section 1 titled ‘Who we are’, replace the content under the subtitle ‘About Commonwealth Private’ with the following:

1.1 About Commonwealth Private

At Commonwealth Private, we offer personalised service and advice to help you achieve your financial goals.

We serve high net-worth clients with either:

- an annual household income above $450,000, or

Changes to our advisory model

Commonwealth Private and CPO currently provide financial advice and services to retail clients and wholesale clients as defined in the Corporations Act 2001 (Cth). From 2 December 2019, Commonwealth Private and CPO will evolve their advisory model to provide financial advice and services to clients who, typically, have $2.5 million or more to invest and can be classified as a wholesale client.

These changes will take effect in the first half of calendar year 2020 and could impact the products and services listed in section 3 of the FSG that we can continue to offer you.

The FSG and the CPL SFSG are intended for retail clients only and not for wholesale clients. Where you are classified and treated as a wholesale client by Commonwealth Private, sections of this FSG may not apply to you.

1.2 Our relationship with the Commonwealth Bank Group

Commonwealth Private Limited (‘Commonwealth Private’, ‘we’, ‘us’, or ‘our’) holds an Australian Financial Services Licence (AFSL 314018) and is responsible for the financial advisory services we provide to you. All references to ‘Commonwealth Private’ in this FSG mean Commonwealth Private Limited. Any financial advisory services offered are provided by representatives of Commonwealth Private.

Commonwealth Private is a wholly-owned but non-guaranteed subsidiary of Commonwealth Bank of Australia and is associated with other Commonwealth Bank Group companies.

Commonwealth Private has associations with the following related product providers within the Commonwealth Bank Group:

- Colonial First State Investments Limited
- Commonwealth Securities Limited (CommSec)
- Avanteos Investments Limited trading as Colonial First State Custom Solutions, and
- Australian Investment Exchange Limited (AUSIEX).

Note:

In September 2017 the Commonwealth Bank (CBA) announced the sale of its CommInsure life insurance business in Australia to the AIA Group. The sale includes the Colonial Mutual Life Assurance Society Limited (CMLA). On 1 November 2019, CBA, CMLA and AIA Australia Limited (AIA) entered into a 20 year Distribution Agreement for the provision of life risk insurance products to customers in Australia. The sale is expected to complete in calendar year 2020 but is subject to a number of conditions and regulatory approvals. In anticipation of completion, CBA, AIA and CMLA have entered into a Joint Cooperation Agreement for the joint operation of the CMLA and AIA businesses on 1 November 2019. Whilst CBA will remain the ultimate shareholder of CMLA until completion occurs, AIA will oversee the day-to-day running of the CMLA business.

Commonwealth Private is not an authorised deposit-taking institution for the purposes of the Banking Act 1959 (Cth). Our obligations don’t represent deposits or other liabilities of CBA.
